Greetings from Nantucket Cottage Hospital. As you read this, we are in the midst of preparing our site for the groundbreaking of Nantucket's new hospital in early 2017. We had an incredible summer that was highlighted by surpassing our initial capital campaign goal of $89 million and securing all the state and local regulatory permits needed to move forward with this historic project. With generous support from all corners of the island, the enabling projects that are necessary to clear the site for the new hospital at 57 Prospect Street are now underway.

These complex and multi-phased enabling projects include the moving of two buildings, demolishing two others, and temporarily relocating 45 employees. Our team has done a tremendous job in managing and coordinating this challenging effort as the hospital campus begins to transform.

During the 20th Boston Pops on Nantucket concert in August, we announced a game-changing gift to the hospital's campaign: a $10 million contribution from Bruce and Elisabeth Percelay. This gift represents a challenge that will allow us to go beyond the bricks and mortar of the new building. With Bruce's leadership as our new campaign chair, we intend to complete our campus with new hospital housing and address the other critical needs of our organization, including sustaining our core medical services and retaining hard-to-recruit clinical staff. This next phase of the campaign will fulfill the promise of our new hospital.

From the unprecedented gift from the Percelay family, to the inspiring contributions from our "Little Builders," the Nantucket children who set up lemonade stands around the island to raise money for our campaign over the summer, our new hospital is truly a community-wide undertaking. With this amazing generosity, we are excited to watch our vision for the future start to become reality in the coming months.

Sincerely,

Kevin Hickey
Chairman, Board of Trustees

Progress Update

Main Entrance

Since July, Nantucket Cottage Hospital has achieved significant progress toward making the island's new hospital a reality. Over the summer, the building design and site plan for the new hospital received unanimous approvals from island regulatory agencies, including the Nantucket Planning Board and Historic District Commission. In mid-September, the state Public Health Council voted unanimously to approve the Determination of Need application for the new hospital. And on September 28th, the Board of Selectmen voted to convey to the hospital the two dirt roads that border the hospital campus, allowing these unnamed ways to be incorporated into the site and provide much-needed flexibility during construction. These approvals and endorsements were the result of months of work by hospital staff and architects from Cannon Design, as well as patients and community members who offered their time and insights during the design process.

For a project of this size, scope and complexity, it is remarkable that the regulatory process was completed ahead of schedule, with no controversy, and with the unanimous support from the reviewing agencies at both the state and local levels.

This progress brings the hospital and the community to an exciting and historic moment with the groundbreaking for the new building on the horizon. Over the past two months, the enabling projects necessary to clear the footprint for the new hospital at 57 Prospect Street began in earnest.

This first phase of the project includes:

LATEST PROGRESS

- The temporary relocation of 45 hospital employees
- Tree removal around the site
- The demolition of a small cottage at 10 Vesper Lane
- The creation of a temporary staff parking lot in Gouin Village
- The demolition of the Dormitory Offices building
- The relocation of the Founders Building to 10 Vesper Lane
- The relocation of the Anderson Building to Prospect Street

Work will continue into the fall and early winter as the 57 Prospect Street campus transforms and the footprint is cleared and prepared for groundbreaking on the new hospital.

A Glimpse into our New Hospital

LEVEL 1

- The ground floor of our new hospital is the home for most of our 24/7 medical services, including the Emergency Department and inpatient beds, as well as our specialty physician clinics and primary care practices. It is a welcoming space that accentuates natural light, provides enhanced privacy and safety, and easy access to our services.
- An expanded Emergency Department makes us crisis-ready, while co-locating it adjacent to the inpatient beds creates flexibility and efficiency to better utilize our staff and clinicians.
- Bringing many of our primary care and specialty physicians together under one roof encourages teamwork among the medical staff, and allows them to work together in a collaborative setting to improve patient care.

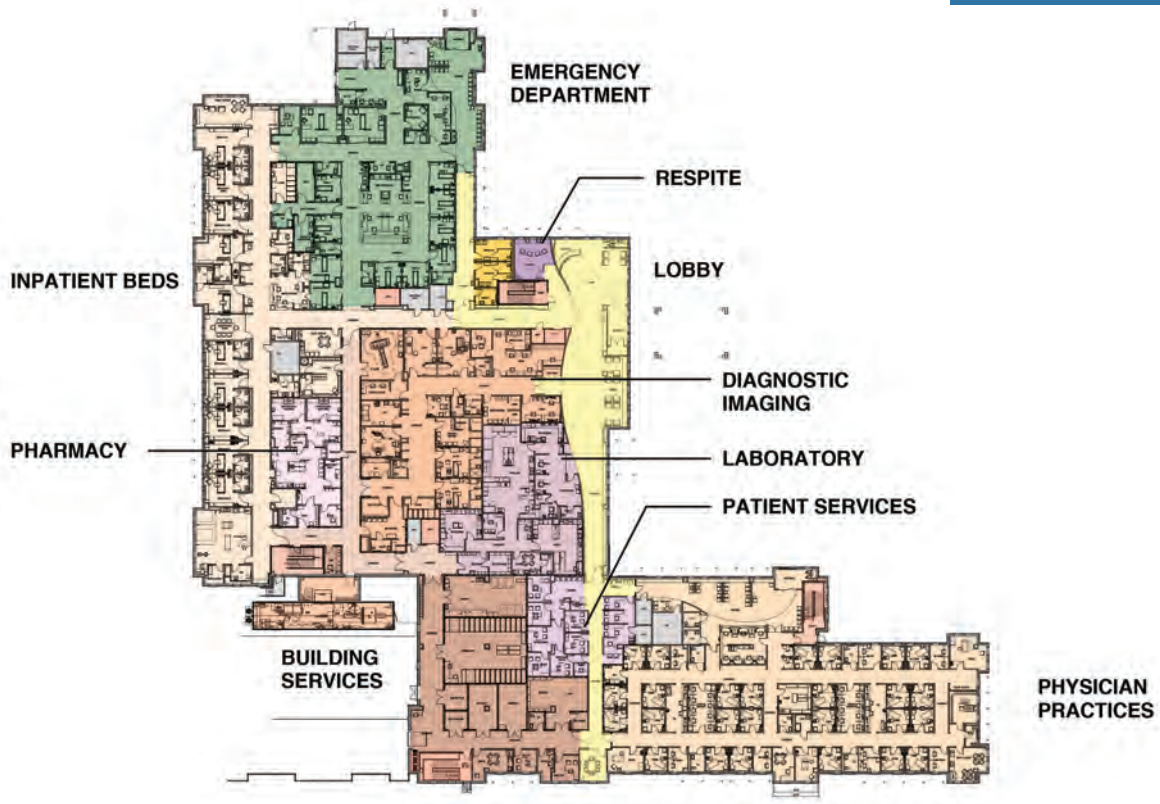

LEVEL 2

- The second floor of our new hospital is the home of a modern interventional suite that includes two operating rooms, one of which will be dedicated for C-sections, as well as a procedure room for endoscopies.
- Upgraded and expanded areas for infusion, including chemotherapy treatment and dialysis, improve privacy and comfort for our patients. Our cardiac rehabilitation patients also benefit from an expanded program area on this floor.
- The privacy and safety of patients will be greatly enhanced in the new hospital, with clearly designated public spaces versus clinical areas accessible only to patients and staff.

Percelay Family Donates $10 Million to Complete Campus

Elisabeth Percelay with son William at their island home after giving birth at Nantucket Cottage Hospital in 2013

For Bruce and Elisabeth Percelay, Nantucket Cottage Hospital is more than just the only medical center on the island, it's where their children, William and Charlie, were born. The hospital is the safety net for their family and for the community they love.

That relationship and the Percelays' passion to make a difference on Nantucket were manifested over the summer in the largest family gift in the history of the island: a $10 million contribution to Nantucket Cottage Hospital's capital campaign.

This transformational challenge gift is intended not only to inspire others to join the campaign and move the hospital closer toward its dynamic new facility, but also to secure the future of the institution by creating an actual hospital campus complete with new housing for medical staff. "This enormously generous gift is important on many levels, not the least of which is that it is coming from a family that has been so involved with the hospital on a personal level," said Dr. Margot Hartmann, President and CEO of Nantucket Cottage Hospital. "It is truly a game-changer for our campaign."

It was at the Percelays' direction to expand the scope of the campaign which will ultimately result in not only a cutting edge hospital but a unified campus. The expanded campaign will also fulfill the potential of the new building by marshalling the resources necessary to staff it with the best programs and best clinical staff. A key part of that equation is addressing the enormous challenge of affordable housing for the hospital in the midst of an island-wide housing crisis.

"Elisabeth and I consider housing for hospital staff to be almost a medical care delivery issue - if we don't have the people and the programs to deliver high quality care, the building is nothing more than bricks and mortar," said Bruce Percelay. "And by addressing the housing needs of our community's hospital, it will reduce the pressure on the island's housing supply in general."

The Percelays' extraordinary gift to the hospital was just their latest contribution to support the Nantucket community. Bruce, the chairman and founder of The Mount Vernon Company, and Elisabeth, who practiced international law at Ernst and Young, have devoted their time and energy over the years to supporting a wide range of Nantucket non-profit organizations. Bruce was also a driving force behind the building of the Nantucket Whaling Museum, and is the publisher of N Magazine. Elisabeth now serves on the board of the hospital and is heavily involved in the family's hotels on the island.

Together they have taken the lead in expanding Nantucket Cottage Hospital's capital campaign to encompass the strategic initiatives that will create a thriving, sustainable health care organization for generations to come. But the Percelay family's commitment and belief in the hospital were perhaps best expressed by their decision to select it as the place where their two children, William and Charlie, were born.

"We could have selected any major hospital to have our children but chose to have them here. It was a conscious decision based upon our belief in the Nantucket Cottage Hospital," Elisabeth said.

This Letter to the Editor from the Percelay's appeared in the Inquirer and Mirror on September 15, 2016:

In the few short months since our gift to the Nantucket Cottage Hospital was announced at the Pops concert, we have had an extraordinary experience.

The outpouring of support from all parts of this island has been something we will never forget. We have had firemen come up to us and express their thanks, cab drivers not take our fare, baggage handlers at the airport give us hugs, people with chronic illnesses approach us in tears and kind letters of thanks in our mailbox from total strangers. The feedback we have received makes it very clear how much this new hospital will mean to those who call Nantucket their home and those who cherish their summers on the island.

Despite having come to Nantucket for many years, we are not true natives. We are just people who love this island, were married here and had our children born at the hospital. For us, there is no more special place on this earth and the expressions of appreciation and gratitude from across the island has only reinforced our belief in the goodness of Nantucket.

As you know, we desperately need and deserve a first rate hospital and quality housing to support its staff. We are by no means responsible for this project happening but are rather one of many helping to make the new hospital a reality. With the continued support from all Nantucketers, this project will soon become a reality. It is one thing to build a community hospital but it is another thing to have a hospital built by a community. When this campus is finally complete, it will be the result of an island wide effort that only a place like Nantucket can produce.

For all those who have expressed their thanks to us and those who have supported this hospital in any way, we would like to offer our deepest appreciation. While ours was a gift to Nantucket, this has truly been a gift to us.

Bruce & Elisabeth Percelay

Join Us

The Percelay Family's donation is inspiring others to join the capital campaign and move the hospital closer toward its dynamic new facility, and also secure the future of the organization by taking the campaign a step further to complete the hospital campus with new housing. As of November 1, 2016, over $85 million in gifts and pledges has been committed toward the capital campaign for our new hospital. To complete our campus with new housing, we ask for your support to reach $120 million. At this exciting time in our campaign, we hope you will consider supporting this final phase.

The Nantucket Golf Club Foundation

$500,000 Supports Island Kids and Pediatrics

The Nantucket Golf Club Foundation has a long track record of supporting the island's youth. Through its foundation, along with members, guests and others, the club has raised more than $21 million for its Nantucket Scholars program and dozens of other initiatives devoted to improving the lives of island children.

The Nantucket Golf Club Foundation's latest act of generosity is a $500,000 gift to Nantucket Cottage Hospital's capital campaign that will make possible the nursery inside the hospital. This extraordinary gift from the Golf Club Foundation will directly benefit the medical care of the hospital's youngest patients and continues its tradition of supporting Nantucket children.

The hospital is on pace to see 160 births during the current fiscal year, which would set a record, and underscores the importance of a first-class maternity unit in the new building.

Interior rendering of a labor and delivery room inside the new hospital

“This gift from the Nantucket Golf Club Foundation represents an incredible gesture to support the medical care of newborns at The Birthplace in the new hospital,” said Dr. Margot Hartmann, President and CEO of Nantucket Cottage Hospital. “We are so grateful to the entire Nantucket Golf Club community for making such a meaningful contribution to the health of our youngest patients.”

The nursery will be a key component of The Birthplace within the new hospital, where Nantucket Natives are born, and the Golf Club Foundation will be prominently recognized in this area of the facility. The Nantucket Golf Club’s generous gift will help ensure that this essential island service has a dynamic new space within the new hospital, and that it continues to support a growing Nantucket population.

Little Builders Recap

The Little Builders fundraising campaign, spearheaded by lifelong island residents Betsey Brooks and Allyson Mitchell (pictured top right), with the help of Sheila Daume, kicked off this summer to engage the youngest Nantucketers in this historic project. The Little Builders pitched in all summer to help us raise awareness and funds - everything from lemonade stands to car washes - even diving for pennies in the harbor! Nantucket kids stepped up to the plate to get us closer to our goal.

Summer Event Recap

Dozens of islanders invited us into their homes this summer to share the exciting progress toward the island's new hospital with their friends, families and neighbors. We were welcomed into neighborhoods in every corner of the island - from Tom Nevers to Naushop to Polpis, and everywhere in between. These intimate gatherings provided hospital staff with a chance to share our story with new friends. Above are just a few of the people who generously welcomed us into their neighborhoods.
